

THE AURORA NEWS

September, 2024

There's a new character in the Santa Claus universe!

Aurora Periwinkle is a scientist who lives at the South Pole.
She's smart, curious -- and lonely.

One day, she discovers something beautiful in the snow that will change her life forever.

Hello, everyone. Can you believe it's already September?

Lately I've been thinking about the great writers of the past. They all put pen to paper, letting their imaginations tell the stories that never existed before. What inspired them? Christmas! What do they have in common? Read on...

Robert L. May invented Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer – a male.

Walter "Jack" Rollins and Steve Nelson invented Frosty the Snowman – a male.

The brilliant Charles Schulz invented Charlie Brown – a male.

How about the Grinch? – a male.

And Ebenezer Scrooge? – a male.

Clement Clarke Moore created "The Night Before Christmas" starring Santa – a male.

It's time for a female to join this merry crew!

Aurora Periwinkle is a scientist who lives all alone at the South Pole, where she makes a surprising discovery that will change her life forever.

"Aurora and the Whispering Jewels: A South Pole Christmas Story" will be published on November 1, 2024. I am very grateful for everyone who subscribes to this newsletter. The excitement is building, so please share this link with your family and friends:
