

THE AURORA NEWS

December, 2024

This is the cast of my audiobook, "Aurora and the Whispering Jewels: A South Pole Christmas Story." I am so grateful to these talented people for bringing Aurora Periwinkle and her adventure to life.

Instead of being a typical audiobook as read by the author, mine is more like a radio play with actors, sound effects, and original music. It's really fun to follow along page by page, looking at Phoebe Cho's classic illustrations and listening to Santa, Mrs. Claus, Aurora, and other characters.

I strongly encourage you to purchase both the printed version and the fabulous audiobook, which is only 99 cents extra. There's a magical chime at the end of each recorded page, so even the youngest child will know when to turn to the next. Parents (and grandparents!) will enjoy the experience of sharing this book with their family, as a bedtime story or sitting near the Christmas tree. The recording is 17 minutes, just the right length.

The book is available at Amazon and other online retailers in several formats: audiobook, hardcover, paperback, and digital ebook. Please order soon to receive it in time for the holidays.

I've created a video less than 90 seconds long, which I've posted on Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, and YouTube.

https://youtube.com/shorts/Pltbk3 Mpsg

It's formatted for phone, tablet, or computer, so you can share the link with family and friends.

Now that we're in the month of Christmas, I'm hoping you'll help to get the word out. We all need some happiness these days. This is a nice, easy way for families to enjoy some holiday magic!

(You can click or tap this picture to play the video.)

Thank you to my newsletter subscribers, many of whom have been with me since April, for your continuing support. It's been a great ride! The first time I held an actual copy of my own book, I was so excited and happy. My fondest wish is that you'll tell other people about it and spread the holiday joy.

My book page... <https://southpolechristmas.net>

"And dreams come true, wherever you are!"

--Ed